HELLO FROM OUR CEO

As the first quarter of 2021 comes to an end, it is vital that we celebrate how far we have come, as a nation, as a global community and as individuals.

We have come out of very historic times. 2020 forced us to face unprecedented challenges, unprecedented global ills and maladies. It made us dig deep and redefine who we are, what we want and the motivating factors behind those decisions.

I, for one, was challenged to continue stepping into the unknown with more boldness, courage and determination. To give myself grace and care, whilst striving to not just survive but thrive.

I realised that I wanted more out of life and I want this for others as well. Moreso, for those that are in procurement, which is a field that is ordinarily overlooked.

As a company we decided to embark on providing content that is rich, challenging, thought-provoking and allows for learnings to be passed on.

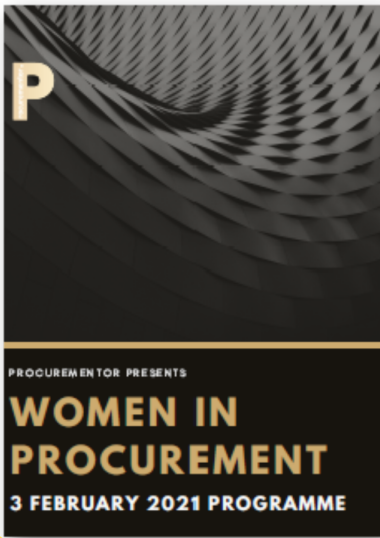

It has been a phenomenal three months.

Remember it's not who you think you are that holds you back, it's who you think you are not! Dare to create the story you want told about your life.

"It's not what you think you are, that holds you back. It's who you think you are not"

We raised awareness and discussed workplace trauma surrounding procurement professionals.

It was liberating to learn that the trauma is not just unique to the profession. The conversation looked at different ways one can be accountable, as well as reach out for help in their community.

Our CEO was invited by @Women Accelerators in Boston, Massachusetts, to give a short video on Negotiation skills to their cohort group.

Our inaugural Women in Procurement was sold out, which prompted a possible follow up session. Our team is busy and currently working on this. Be on the lookout for these.

We had phenomenal speakers and an engaged audience. The webinar will be posted on our company website in due course.

An opportunity which allowed us to be part of the awareness campaign on international women's day. This year's theme was #choosetochallenge! It is time gender biases gets reviewed soberly and replaced with proactive policies that allow for women not to be discriminated against.
